Bernardino León
Director General, Emirates Diplomatic Academy
1.1 Overview
The Emirates Diplomatic Academy (EDA) was established as an independent federal entity under Cabinet Decision No. (29) of the year 2014 by His Highness Sheikh Mohammed Bin Rashid Al Maktoum, Vice President and Prime Minister of the UAE and Ruler of Dubai. EDA emphasizes a combination of diplomatic education and training. A prestigious platform that combines the best of academia, research and practice, EDA equips the UAE’s current and future diplomats with the knowledge and multi-disciplinary skills to effectively serve their nation.

In our rapidly evolving and highly interconnected global environment, national security and prosperity depend on knowledgeable and informed government leaders, policy-makers and diplomats. The ability to promote the UAE’s interests on the world stage and find innovative solutions to the most pressing global issues, while maintaining positive strategic relations with regional and international partners, has never been more important or complex than it is today. Diplomats are the highly skilled agents who enable states to effectively carry out their agenda.

Accordingly, diplomats must receive specific trainings: they need to be equipped to understand global developments and have the requisite skills to present their countries in the best possible way. Leadership is a critical component of any successful diplomat because they must possess great integrity, be dedicated, have significant knowledge, be compassionate, have sophisticated communication skills and have the ability to make quick and incisive judgments.

EDA aims to promote the capacity of the UAE’s diplomatic leadership. Through its nine-month Post-Graduate Diploma (PGD) programme in UAE Diplomacy and International Relations and its Master of Arts (MA) programme in Diplomacy and International Relations, EDA equips junior UAE diplomats with the essential theoretical knowledge and practical skills needed to succeed in the world of international affairs and diplomacy.

EDA is the academic home of 50-60 students, taught by a combination of resident, visiting faculty and visiting experts involved in diplomatic practice. In addition, EDA functions as a platform for thought leadership and relevant research on international relations and diplomacy in the region. Its research faculty provides curricular input through co-delivering some courses and engaging the students in EDA research. EDA also provides short-term executive training courses to its students and to current employees of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation (MoFAIC) and others interested in diplomacy and international relations.

1.2 EDA Vision
To be a globally recognised Emirati centre of excellence, developing world-class diplomats and influencing diplomacy.

1.3 EDA Mission
To build the capabilities to meet the objectives of the UAE’s foreign policy by providing accredited academic programmes, effective training to the highest standards and further the understanding of diplomacy and international relations through insightful thought leadership and impactful research and analysis.

1.4 EDA Operating Model
The EDA operating model offers a unique blend of academic teaching and professional training with research activities that are focused on the specific context of the UAE and the region. EDA offers:

- Education Programmes that qualify Emiratis to serve their nation by offering accredited and relevant academic programmes in the field of diplomacy and international relations.
- Executive Training that strengthens the members of the diplomatic and consular corps and expands training offerings to other government entities and businesses interested in diplomacy skills.
- Research and Analysis that contributes to domestic and international debates on issues relevant to the UAE’s foreign policy.

1.5 Accreditation and Licensure
The UAE Ministry of Education (MoE) officially licensed EDA to award a Post-Graduate Diploma (PGD) in UAE Diplomacy and International Relations in 2014. The PGD programme was further upgraded in June 2016 and the MoE and the Commission on Academic Accreditation (CAA) approved the changes. In addition, the CAA and MoE accredited the MA programme in Diplomacy and International Relations in August 2017.

1.6 EDA’s Competencies Framework
EDA aims to graduate diplomats that are capable, influential and ethical. This competencies framework informs all the work that EDA does and stipulates that EDA graduates shall be:

a. Capable

- Skilful: EDA graduates master traditional diplomatic skills (including languages, written and oral communications, negotiating, networking and consular skills) and specific 21st century skills (including digital technology, using big data, brand management and public relations, campaigning and using social media).
- Astute: EDA graduates show good judgment, display abundant tact and earn the trust of their seniors.
- Knowledgeable: EDA graduates possess a robust understanding of international affairs as well as of their own country, and have an insatiable curiosity to learn more.

b. Influential

- Leaders: EDA graduates can set out a vision, build and mobilise networks, relationships and coalitions to achieve specific goals, and organise and motivate staff and stakeholders to achieve them.
- Communicators: EDA graduates are empathetic listeners, who build trust by being honest and authentic, and can write and speak persuasively using multiple media.
- Innovators: EDA graduates are creative and outcome-focused, think critically and outside the box, and adapt flexibly to changing circumstances.

c. Ethical

- Courageous: EDA graduates are resilient under pressure and willing to convey inconvenient truths.
- Disciplined: EDA graduates are punctual, reliable, hardworking and well presented.
- Committed: EDA graduates demonstrate great integrity, are dedicated to promoting their country’s interests and passionate about international cooperation.
The academic year runs from September through June and consists of two semesters. The Fall semester begins on 30 August 2020 and the Spring semester begins on 10 January 2021.

PGD classes are generally held between 9:00am and 5:00pm, Sunday through Thursday. MA classes are generally held between 5:00pm and 8:00pm, Sunday through Wednesday.

The IELTS exam should be the academic version. A score of 550 on the paper-based TOEFL, 79-80 on the internet-based TOEFL, or 6.0 on the IELTS is required.

3.4 Transfer, Visiting, Non-matriculated Students and Transfer Credits
For the 2020 – 2021 Academic Year, EDA does not accept transfer, visiting, exchange or non-matriculated students in the PGD programme. In addition, EDA does not accept transfer credits or equivalency courses from other universities. EDA also does not accept transfer credits from undergraduate programmes.

3.5 Application Assessment
Student Affairs screens all applications for completeness and demonstration of minimum requirements. All eligible applications are forwarded together with the evaluation form to the Admissions Committee, which carries out the following assessment steps:
- Academic Screening: Every application is reviewed by the Admissions Committee which evaluates the applications in accordance with the following:
  - Academic strength
  - Career motivation
- Psychometric and Skills Evaluation: Applicants are evaluated using a standard psychometric exam that assesses the core competencies, characteristics and baseline skills as a diplomat.
- Interviews: Applicants are evaluated through personal interviews with the Admissions Committee. In exceptional cases, interviews may be conducted via phone or Internet.
- Admission decision: The Admissions Committee makes the final decision, which is sent for endorsement to the EDA Director General’s Office. Applicants will receive the official notification of admission or rejection from Student Affairs.

B. Admissions to the MA Programme in Diplomacy and International Relations:
The MA programme in Diplomacy and International Relations is a programme open to students who have successfully completed 24 credits of coursework in the PGD programme and who are sponsored by MoFAIC or other UAE government entities.

3.6 Entry Requirements
Candidates to the MA programme should satisfy the following admissions criteria:
- Students who graduate with a minimum CGPA of 3.5 over 4 in the PGD programme are automatically eligible to enrol in the MA programme.
- Students with a CGPA between 3.0 and 3.49 in the PGD programme who are sponsored by MoFAIC may be given the opportunity to take a written and oral qualifying exam. Successful candidates who pass both components of the exam will be enrolled. Candidates who do not pass one or both components of the qualifying exam will not be admitted to the MA programme and may not re-take the exam.
- Students who do not pass the qualifying exam may re-apply in the following academic year.
- Students with a CGPA lower than 3.0 in the PGD programme are not eligible to enrol in the MA programme.

3.7 MA Programme Enrolment Procedure
Student Affairs screens eligible candidates and contacts them to determine their interest in enrolling.

In exceptional cases, prospective MA students may enrol in the MA programme at two entry points. The regular enrolment cycle starts in the summer preceding the start of the academic year. A second call for enrolment may be issued in the winter preceding the beginning of the Spring semester.

3.8 MA Programme Transfer Students, Visiting Students and Transfer Credits
For the 2020 – 2021 Academic Year, EDA does not accept transfer, visiting, exchange or non-matriculated students in the MA programme. In addition, EDA does not accept transfer credits or equivalency courses from other universities. EDA also does not accept transfer credits from graduate programmes.

3.9 Orientation Programme
For PGD students, the mandatory Orientation Programme takes place during the first two to four days before the beginning of classes. PGD students can expect an orientation to EDA, an introduction to EDA faculty and staff, an overview of the academic programme and to EDA rules and regulations.

MA students can expect an orientation to the MA programme in addition to EDA rules and regulations. All students receive their ID cards and are introduced to EDA facilities during the Orientation.
GENERAL ACADEMIC INFORMATION

4.1 Language of Instruction

English and Arabic are the languages of instruction at EDA.

4.2 Class Size

In order to create and foster a constructive learning environment, PGD class size is generally limited to a maximum of 30 students per class while MA classes will normally not exceed 20 students. In exceptional cases and for lecture hall courses, the entire student body may be in one class. In language classes, the number of students shall not exceed 15 students.

4.3 Academic Credit Hours

A credit represents fifteen classroom contact-hours and thirty non-contact hours. For example, a course worth three credits would require three contact hours per week and six non-contact hours per week over a 15-week semester.

All PGD core courses and MA courses have three credit hours each, with the exception of the MA Thesis that consists of six credit hours. Credit-bearing classes are counted in the students’ GPAs.

4.4 Academic Evaluation, Grading Mechanism and Grading Scale

Faculty members in all academic, skills and language classes evaluate student performance freely and provide fair and consistent assessments of student performance. Assessment methods include but are not limited to projects, oral presentations, research papers, case studies and written examinations (in-class or take-home). All grades for academic work are based strictly on the quality of the work submitted, not on the hours of effort or on external circumstances.

Faculty members keep clear and comprehensive records of student assessments to ensure the accurate calculation of student performance over each course and as a reference in the case of any student appeal of particular grades. Grades submitted to the Registrar are considered final after the approval of the Dean. Faculty members submit all final student grades within the deadlines specified by the Registrar. Students will have access to their grades online, via the Student Management System (Emada). The faculty member's ability to change a grade once submitted is limited (see sections 4.19 on “Grade Change Periods” and section 7.10 on “Academic Grievances and Appeals”).

The EDA uses the following grading scale:

4.5 Grade Point Averages

Credit-bearing courses are calculated in the students’ GPAs. The EDA grading system uses two grade point averages: the semester (term) grade point average (GPA or TGPA) and the cumulative grade point average (CGPA).

Grade Point Average (GPA)

The grade point average is the combined grade point average of all courses (including failed courses) attempted by a student in a particular semester. It is calculated by adding together the numerical value of the grade for each course multiplied by the number of credit hours, and divided by the total number of credit hours taken in that semester.

Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA)

The CGPA is the combined grade point average of all courses (including failed courses) attempted by a student at EDA in all semesters. The CGPA can be calculated by dividing the sum of all grade points earned in all semesters by the total credit hours attempted in both semesters at EDA.

For the 2020 – 2021 academic year, academic classes will be counted in the students' GPAs and grades will be displayed on the students' transcripts. Grades obtained in language courses will also be displayed on students' transcripts.

For the 2020 – 2021 academic year, students in the MA programme will obtain a TGPA reflecting their grades in the MA courses only and a CGPA reflecting their combined GPA for 36 credits.

4.6 Registration and Add/Drop

For the PGD programme, no add/drop period exists. PGD students will be enrolled automatically to all academic, language and short skills courses.

For the MA programme, an add-drop period of one week is allowed after the beginning of each semester (see the “2020 – 2021 Academic Year” for more information). Eligible students may freely switch tracks during add-drop week.

4.7 Eligibility to Graduate

To graduate from EDA, students need to maintain a CGPA of 3.0. Students who score a CGPA lower than 3.0 are not eligible to graduate.
In addition, the following procedures apply:

PGD Students:

The degree requirements for the Post-Graduate Diploma in UAE Diplomacy and International Relations are as follows:

- The successful completion of all eight core courses of three credits each with a CGPA of 3.0 and above
- The successful completion of all language and skills courses

For PGD students, winning an Award or being placed on the EDA Honour’s List for one semester (see section 4.8 on “Awards”) does not guarantee eligibility for graduation if the CGPA is below 3.0 at the end of the academic year.

PGD students who do not successfully complete their skills courses and/or language courses are not eligible to graduate. What this entails is that PGD students must complete all skills and language courses successfully by attending the courses, completing all assessments and readings, engaging with the trainers and participants and obtaining a passing grade.

MA Students:

In addition to maintaining a CGPA of 3.0 and above, MA students in Track One have to pass the Comprehensive Exam at the end of the academic year. MA students in Track Two must obtain a minimum of B on their MA Thesis defense.

4.8 Awards

EDA may award its most outstanding PGD and MA students. The Academic Affairs Committee (AAC), in coordination with the EDA Director General’s Office, approves all student awards. PGD and MA students whose CGPA is higher than 3.6 will be placed on the EDA Honour’s List and will receive such recognition during the graduation ceremony.

4.9 Examinations

Exams in the 2020 – 2021 academic year may take place entirely online. Faculty members determine the type of exams to administer in their classes. When exams take place on the EDA campus, faculty members are expected to proctor the respective exam in question. In all assessments, faculty members should hold students to strict adherence of the EDA’s policies on academic integrity (see section 7.8 on “Academic Integrity”).

4.10 Auditing MA Classes

Full-time MA students taking two classes (6 credits) in one semester may opt to audit a third class only with the permission of the instructor. Auditing students are exempt from completing class requirements and will not receive a grade on the class. Audited classes do not count in the student’s GPA.

Students who wish to audit a class should fill out an “Audit Attendance” form, which can be obtained at the Student Affairs section.

4.11 Repeating a Course to Improve One’s Grade:

Repeating a course to improve one’s grade is not allowed at EDA. More specifically, repeating the same course or another elective to improve one’s grade is not allowed in the MA programme.

4.12 Repeating a Failed Course in the PGD Programme

Students who failed a course and did not graduate from EDA as a result cannot repeat the course in the following academic years.

4.13 Repeating a Failed Course or the Failed Comprehensive Exam in the MA Programme

Students who failed a course and did not graduate from the MA programme as a result cannot repeat the course in the following academic years. Students who fail the Comprehensive Exam at the end of the academic year may appeal to the Academic Affairs Committee (AAC) and seek to re-take the exam in the following semester. The AAC has to unanimously agree to allow the student to repeat the exam and the decision has to be endorsed by the EDA Director General. Only then will the student be granted permission to repeat the exam.

4.14 Withdrawal from a Course in the PGD Programme

All elements of the PGD programme are mandatory for all students and thus withdrawal from a course is not applicable. In exceptional circumstances, a grade of “I” (Incomplete) will be assigned for a course (see section 4.16 on “Incomplete Grades”).

4.15 Withdrawal from a Course in the MA Programme

Students in the MA programme can only withdraw from a course by the fourth week of the semester. A grade of “W” (“Withdrawn”) will be assigned to the class and will show on the student’s transcript. The student would have to repeat the course, or take another elective, in the following academic year. Students in Track Two cannot withdraw from the MA Thesis class after the add-drop period.

MA students who wish to withdraw from a course should request a “Course Withdrawal” form, which can be obtained at the Student Affairs section.

4.16 Incomplete Grades

In exceptional circumstances, a student in the PGD or MA programme may be allowed not to complete a course in a specific semester after securing permission from the course instructor and approval from the Dean. A grade of I (Incomplete) will be assigned for the course. Students must complete the course requirements no later than the fifth week of the following semester. Failure to meet the deadline will cause the student to receive a grade of “F” in the course.
Incomplete grades can also be assigned to students who take an extended Maternity Leave (see section 5.6 on “Leaves”).

4.17 Withdrawal from the PGD and MA Programmes

Students who choose to withdraw from the PGD and MA programme can do so by filling out the Complete Withdrawal Form (which can be obtained through the Student Affairs section). The AAC reviews and approves students’ withdrawal requests and informs the EDA Director General’s Office of its decision.

4.18 Re-admission

Students that have previously withdrawn from the PGD and MA programmes may re-apply and seek to resume their studies in the following year as per the approval of the AAC. Students who were dismissed due to violations of the Student Code of Conduct (see section 8 on the “Student Code of Conduct”) and/or due to probation (see section 4.20 on “Academic Standing and Probation”) may not be re-admitted.

4.19 Grade Appeal Periods

A period to change course grades is determined by Student Affairs at the end of every semester. Students may write to Student Affairs requesting a Grade Change Form for the course in question. Grade changes will happen in exceptional circumstances involving statistical error, computational mistake or data entry mistakes.

Students cannot seek to change grades outside of the approved periods set by Student Affairs.

Faculty members and Student Affairs will respond to the grade change requests within one week of the grade change period.

4.20 Academic Standing and Probation

All EDA students are committed to programmes of graduate studies and that means they are expected to perform at a higher academic standard than undergraduate students.

Accordingly, all students in the PGD and MA programme must maintain a term grade point average (GPA) of at least 3.0 (B average) or better to remain in good academic standing.

Students may be placed on Probation in the following instances:

1) If a student receives two C grades in courses in one semester and/or the student’s GPA falls below 3.0, his/her academic status will lead automatically to Probation. Students on Probation are not eligible to graduate from EDA if their CGPA at the end of the academic year is lower than 3.0 (see section 4.7 on “Eligibility to Graduate”).

2) Since the PGD and MA programmes run for one academic year, students who receive an F grade in a credit-bearing course will also be placed on Probation and should not expect to graduate. They also will have their complete academic record reviewed by the AAC.

a. In the case of PGD students, the AAC may recommend that the student repeat the course or take a substitute course in the following academic year, or may recommend that the student withdraws from the programme. The AAC notifies the concerned students in writing.

b. In the case of MA students, the AAC will consider the student’s grades and complete academic profile. The AAC may recommend that the student continue to work on a substitute course or take another course in the following academic year, or may recommend that the student withdraws from the programme. The AAC notifies the concerned students in writing.

3) In addition, all students who are excessively absent, who violate the Student Code of Conduct (see section 8) and/or who violate EDA’s academic integrity rules will be placed on Probation and may face dismissal (see section 7.8 on “Academic Integrity”). In such cases, PGD students who are on Probation because of excessive absences will be dismissed from EDA if they miss one class without a valid excuse, cause disruption to classes or violate the Student Code of Conduct (see section 8) in any other way.

Students on Probation will be notified in writing of their academic status. Probation letters will be permanently placed in the student’s file.
5.1 Privacy Rights of Students
Student Affairs is responsible for maintaining all students’ personal and academic records, ensuring the privacy and confidentiality of these records, and implementing the academic policies and regulations of the EDA.

Students have the right to review their personal information, academic records, and to update or change their personal data and contact details through the “Change of Contact Information Form”, which can be obtained at the Student Affairs section.

5.2 Transcripts
All students can review and print unofficial copies of their transcripts. Student Affairs is the only office that has the authority to print official complete transcripts with EDA’s seal. Students should submit an official “Transcript Request Form” requesting the issuance of a transcript.

5.3 Student Records
All student records will be stored in a secure, fireproof cabinet in the office of Student Affairs. Electronic academic records are stored using a computer-based student information system. This system has an automatic backup function to avoid any data loss or damage.

5.4 Student Records from Other Institutions
EDA has the right to keep all student documents submitted from another institution as the property of EDA, and is not required to provide any copies of these documents, to return original documents to the student upon the completion of the programme, or to forward these documents to another institution on behalf of the student.

5.5 Student ID
All students are issued EDA identification cards when they first enrol in EDA. This card is the property of EDA and must be surrendered to EDA upon request. The card displays the student’s photo and contains the student’s name, ID number and may mention their date of birth.

All students are expected to carry their card with them at all times when on EDA property. An ID card must be produced when official identification is needed or requested.

EDA’s security personnel have the right to request that students produce and/or surrender their ID cards. Security personnel also have the obligation to identify themselves to students as a Security Officer of the Academy. Failure to present the card when requested by an EDA official is a violation of the Student Code of Conduct and may restrict the holder’s access to the EDA and/or its facilities. Any attempt to use an expired, altered or duplicated EDA ID or make use of another student’s ID is prohibited.

5.6 Leaves
Whenever a student takes leave, he/she is responsible for ensuring that they catch up with the course material that they have missed. All leave requests should be submitted to Student Affairs. There are seven types of permissible leave for PGD and MA students:

a. Sick Leave
Students are allowed a maximum of nine business days of sick leave per academic year. Students should submit their sick leaves from their doctor within 48 hours of the absence. Any sick leave that extends beyond three days should be supported by a medical report. All leaves and medical reports should be submitted to Student Affairs. The permitted number of sick leaves may be extended in exceptional medical circumstances, but only with the authorisation of the AAC.

b. Maternity Leave
Students on maternity leave can miss up to two weeks during the academic year. Students who wish to take a longer maternity leave of up to three months will receive an “Incomplete” grade in the classes they are enrolled in (see section 4.16 on “Incomplete Grades”) and will have to complete their classes the following academic year, subject to their employer’s approval of them taking the time to do so. In such cases, the student will not graduate until they have successfully completed all of the required courses.

c. Paternity Leave
Students on paternity leave are allowed three business days of leave during the academic year.

d. Compassionate Leave
Students can take up to three business days of compassionate leave for first-degree relatives. They have to provide the death certificate to Student Affairs.

e. Hajj Leave
Students can take up to 10 days per academic year for Hajj leave. Students should notify Student Affairs prior to leaving on Hajj.

f. National Service
Students who miss class because of National Service requirements can take up to two weeks of leave. They need to inform Student Affairs prior to their departure. They are responsible for making up any missed assignments in coordination with their instructors.

g. Emergencies
Students should contact Student Affairs within 48 hours should they be absent. EDA reserves the right to contact the student’s Emergency Contact to request information on the student’s whereabouts. Should the student not be contactable within 48 hours, EDA will consider that student as ‘missing’ and may assign an “Incomplete” grade for the semester (see section 4.16 on “Incomplete Grades”).
6.1 Academic Advising
Each student in the PGD and MA programme is assigned to a faculty member who takes responsibility for providing academic advice and monitoring progress of the student’s academic performance throughout the academic year. The advisor is also responsible for approving some advisees’ academic requests, such as withdrawing from courses.

6.2 Comprehensive Student Evaluation (CSE):
While at EDA, and in addition to their ongoing academic evaluation in all their courses (see section 4.4 on “Academic Evaluation, Grading Mechanism and Grading Scale”), all students are evaluated at the end of the academic year using the Comprehensive Student Evaluation (CSE) form (see Appendix One. Please note that the form may be subject to change).

The CSE process stipulates that students are evaluated on the basis of three criteria: Academic Performance, Practical Skills and Character. Students are then rated on each of the three categories and are assigned an overall score. Other items such as attendance records, warnings and probation status are taken into account during the end-of-year evaluation. A committee approved by the AAC and led by the Director General evaluates all students. The evaluations are reviewed and approved by the Dean and the EDA Director General’s Office. While each individual evaluation is confidential, students can petition the AAC to request a brief summary of its main findings.

7.1 PGD Students’ Attendance in All Academic, Skills and Language Classes
PGD students are required to attend all academic, skills and language classes. EDA tolerates one unexcused absence per class, per semester only. Students who consistently miss class without a valid excuse may receive a Warning Letter and be placed on Probation (see section 4.20 on “Academic Standing and Probation”) for the remainder of the academic year. All letters will be permanently placed in the student’s file. Warning letters due to excessive absences may not be appealed.

Students on Probation may be dismissed from EDA if they miss any other class without a valid excuse (see section 5.6 on “Leaves” for more information on what constitutes a valid excuse and section 7.9 on “Dismissal”). The EDA Director General’s Office notifies students and their employers in writing in cases of dismissal.

7.2 MA Students’ Attendance in All Academic Classes
MA students are required to attend all academic classes. EDA tolerates one unexcused absence per class, per semester only. Students who miss class due to work-related commitments are required to provide Student Affairs a written excuse to have the absence removed. Should a student be absent more than three times, (whether excused or unexcused), the instructor has the right to withdraw the student from the course. In that case, a student will receive a... grade of “W” on that course and will have to repeat it in the following academic year.

7.3 Punctuality
PGD and MA students are expected to be on time for all academic, skills and language classes. Students who are more than 10 minutes late to class will be marked absent on that day. Students who are consistently late to class (more than three times) may receive a Warning Letter, which will be permanently placed in the student’s file.

The instructor is responsible for defining all punctuality guidelines. MA students who are late due to work-related commitments are required to provide Student Affairs and the instructor a written excuse explaining their lateness to have the lateness removed.

Students’ punctuality records will be taken into consideration when evaluating the students at the end of the academic year (see section 6.3 on “Comprehensive Student Evaluation (CSE)”).

7.4 Cameras and Class Disruptions
PGD and MA students are expected to physically or virtually remain in the classroom for the entire duration of all academic, skills and language classes. Students are expected to turn on their cameras at all times. It is at the discretion of the faculty member to define what constitutes a class disruption in their class and to decide on an appropriate course of action in the case of frequent class disruptions, including leaving the classroom for any reason. This may result in one of the following actions:

- Lowering a student's participation grade
- Assigning an “F” grade on a student’s participation grade
- Lowering a student’s final grade

For PGD students, in the case of such behaviour being reported to Student Affairs as a persistent problem by one or more faculty members, the student in question may also receive a Warning Letter, which will remain in the student’s file. Further violations beyond this will result in a Final Warning Letter to be issued by the EDA Director General’s Office.

Students’ behaviour in class will be taken into consideration when evaluating the students at the end of the academic year (see section 6.3 on “Comprehensive Student Evaluation (CSE)”)

7.5 Submission of Coursework
Coursework submission deadlines are assigned by the instructor and indicated in the course syllabus. PGD and MA students are expected to follow these deadlines and submit all their course work on time. Upon late submission of coursework, the professor decides whether to accept the coursework, apply a penalty for late submission or reject it according to the instructor’s policies that are specified in the course syllabus.

When a student is unable to undertake, complete or hand in a piece of coursework due to circumstances beyond his/her control, the student should notify the instructor regarding this issue prior to the coursework deadline. The instructor may decide to extend the submission deadline and assign a new date.

Faculty and students are expected to use EDA software when submitting coursework and assignments.

7.6 Mobile Phone Use
EDA considers the use of mobile phones to be disruptive to the learning environment. A low tolerance policy is thus enforced.

a. In the classroom
Mobile phone use of any kind is forbidden in all classes, whether virtual or physical, unless for emergency cases. Frequent use of mobile phones in the classroom will be reported to Student Affairs and may result in a Warning Letter. Repeated mobile phone use and subsequent warnings will be seen as a deviation from the Student Code of Conduct (see section 8.a on “Disrupting EDA Operations”) and may result in probation or dismissal from EDA.

b. During Exams
The use of mobile phones (and related devices) is strictly forbidden during exams—unless the instructor has granted permission. When on campus, all phones may be collected from students before the start of the exam. Any mobile phone use during exams will be considered as a violation of academic integrity and will be penalised according to section 7.8 (on “Academic Integrity”) of this Handbook.

c. During EDA Events and Lectures
Mobile phone use is forbidden during all EDA events and guest lectures. The use of mobile phones during events will be considered as a violation of the Student Code of Conduct (section 8.a on “Disrupting EDA Operations”) and will be penalised according to section 8 (on the “Student Code of Conduct”) of this Handbook.

7.7 Participation of Students in EDA Events and Guest Lectures
PGD students are expected to attend all EDA events and guest lectures that they are invited to, whether on the EDA campus, off campus or online. In exceptional circumstances, a valid excuse should be provided to Student Affairs in writing at least 24 hours prior to the event should the student be unable to attend.

PGD students are not permitted to miss more than one EDA event per semester without written authorisation from Student Affairs. A Warning Letter will be issued and be permanently placed in the student’s file when a student misses more than one event without prior justification.

PGD students’ active and serious participation in EDA events and guest lectures will be taken into account when evaluating students at the end of the academic year.

MA students are encouraged to attend all EDA events and guest lectures but are not required to do so. Instructors may choose to reward MA students for attending EDA events.

7.8 Academic Integrity
EDA is an academic institution with strict policies regarding academic integrity. A zero-tolerance policy is therefore implemented to protect the work of both PGD and MA students and researchers. Academic violations include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Plagiarism: Using another person’s ideas or expressions in one’s writing without acknowledging the source constitutes plagiarism. This includes not citing references properly according to recognised academic standards. Students are strictly prohibited from plagiarising the work of others in all assignments and assessments.
- Copyright violation: Copyright violation is defined as photocopying and/or making use of copyrighted printed materials, images, using duplicated copies of computer software and/or unauthorised use of any kind of documents.
- Inappropriate collaboration: Inappropriate collaboration is defined as receiving unauthorised assistance in writing, revising and/or developing any kind of assignment, report or take-home exam without acknowledging the involvement of that person.
The sanctions are detailed as follows:

- Dishonesty in Examinations: Dishonesty in examinations is defined as cheating during exams, giving assistance to others without permission from the professor, using illegal prior knowledge of exam questions ahead of the examination period and impersonating other students during exams.

- Dishonesty in Coursework: Dishonesty in coursework includes multiple submissions of completed coursework to more than one course (unless approved by the instructor).

- Submission of Coursework: Whenever students submit coursework, they are expected to be able to discuss it in detail with the concerned faculty member. Failure to be able to do so may be considered as an academic violation.

Penalties for Academic Integrity Violations in the PGD and MA Programmes

All cases of academic integrity violations will be reported to the AAC by the relevant faculty member. This will include the sanction that the faculty member is proposing to impose. For minor violations, a short, summary email to the AAC will suffice. For major violations, a more detailed report will be provided.

For minor academic integrity violations, the AAC will simply endorse the faculty member’s proposal unless there is a strong reason to overrule it. The sanction that may be imposed for a minor violation is a grade penalty.

For major academic integrity violations, the AAC will appoint an ad hoc committee to review the case(s). For major violations, the AAC will determine the appropriate sanction. The sanctions that may be imposed for a major violation are either probation, grade penalty (including awarding an F) or dismissal.

The sanctions are detailed as follows:

1. Grade penalty: As lowering of the final class grade, lowering of the assignment grade or failing the assignment.
2. Probation: Students who violate EDA’s academic integrity may be placed on probation for the remainder of the academic year. They will be notified of their probation in writing by the EDA Director General’s office. The letter will be permanently placed in the student’s file.
3. Dismissal: Only the AAC in cooperation with the EDA Director General’s Office may approve dismissal in the event of an academic integrity violation. The EDA Director General’s Office notifies the students and their employers in cases of dismissal due to academic integrity violations.

7.9 Dismissal

All students who are on Probation after the completion of their first semester at EDA may be dismissed after the first semester of study. Furthermore, students who appear to be unable to maintain a sufficient level of academic performance, rigor and discipline, who violate the Student Code of Conduct (see section 8) and/or who violate EDA’s academic integrity rules (see section 7.8 on “Academic Integrity”) can be dismissed.

The AAC will review all instances of academic dismissal and will forward its recommendations to the EDA Director General’s Office. The Director General’s Office will notify students and their employers in writing of any decision to dismiss.

7.10 Academic Grievances and Appeals

An academic grievance may arise in two instances:

1) When a student believes his or her work has been graded unfairly. This grievance can be resolved in two ways:

   a) Step 1: Informal Resolution
      The initial recourse for the student is to meet with the faculty member to discuss the issue and determine whether the result is due to miscalculation of a grade. Should this be the case, the faculty will notify the student by email once the grade is changed in the system.

   b) Step 2: Appeal Process
      If a grievance still exists after the student’s meeting with the instructor, the student is required to fill out a Grade Appeal Form, where he/she must describe the grievance in detail. Students should submit the form to Student Affairs within a deadline specified by Student Affairs. Faculty will review the appeals and will write back to Student Affairs with their decision. Once the process is concluded, the student will be notified by email.

2) Academic grievance may also arise when a student believes that he/she was unfairly warned, placed on Probation or dismissed. In such cases, the student should follow the same procedures outlined in Step 3 (AAC Appeal) by writing to the Dean and describing in detail the conditions that led to the perceived grievance. Students also need to fill out an Academic Grievance Form, which can be obtained through Student Affairs.

The Dean will first try to resolve the grievance by meeting with the appropriate parties to the situation. Only if a resolution cannot be found will the matter go to the AAC for deliberation. The AAC will then discuss the grievance and forward its decision or recommendations to the EDA Director General’s Office. The EDA Director General’s Office will then notify the student in writing of its decision. The AAC will only recognise formal complaints that go through this grievance process.
EDA seeks to foster an academic community committed to the educational and personal growth of its students. The purpose of this code is to provide students with a clear statement of the standards of behaviour expected in an educational environment, so that they make responsible choices regarding their participation in the academic community and understand the consequences of any infringement of these standards.

EDA seeks to create an environment that promotes academic achievement and integrity, to foster a community that is respectful of the rights, opportunities, and welfare of students, faculty, staff and guests, that is free from violence, threats, and intimidation, and promotes the health and safety of the EDA community, to preserve the spirit of community and provide a comfortable and safe environment for all students enrolled at EDA, to preserve the responsible stewardship of its resources and to protect its property and resources from theft, damage, destruction, or misuse.

The Student Code of Conduct shall apply to all students enrolled at EDA, to student conduct that occurs on EDA premises, online and at all EDA-sponsored activities, whether on and off campus, in the UAE and abroad.

Disciplinary Actions for Violations of the Student Code of Conduct:

Any alleged breach of the Student Code of Conduct will be reported to the AAC and the EDA Director General's Office and will result in disciplinary action. Disciplinary action includes a written warning, probation or dismissal from EDA. Students who have been dismissed due to violations of the Student Code of Conduct will be denied access to EDA premises and services. The EDA Director General's Office will notify students in writing of the corresponding disciplinary action and will also notify the students' employers when such violations occur. Students who believe that they have been unfairly sanctioned may appeal the decision to the AAC through a formal process (see section 7.10 on "Academic Grievances and Appeals").

9.2 Learning Resources

The EDA has an equipped library and technological resources on campus to assist students in the effective completion of their academic work.

Use of the Library is available from 8.00am to 5.00pm to allow students to access learning resources outside of classroom hours. On days when MA classes are held, the library operating hours will be extended to 9.00pm. The library has a wide range of materials, including books, periodicals, electronic learning resources and reference desks.

Physical access to the Library and other campus facilities will be restricted during the COVID-19 pandemic. All learning resources will be made available to students online.

The selected students work on specific projects as Research Assistants (RAs) to the Senior Research Fellows. The students are not paid for their work as it is solely on a volunteer basis and they are expected to dedicate a small number of hours per week for the research work. 10.6 PGD Course Descriptions

A. COURSES:

a. PGD – CORE001: Theories and Practice of International Relations

The major part of this course explains the concept of state and system regarding contemporary approaches to international relations theory. It identifies some of the principal problems and issues that confront international relations and places the study of world politics in their historical and current contexts. The course combines teaching of the concepts and ideas of international relations with a discussion of diplomacy in the modern Middle East. Building on the course entitled “UAE Interest and National Security Policy,” the course emphasises the guiding principles of UAE diplomacy.

b. PGD-CORE002: International Relations of the Middle East

This course introduces students to the major socio-political and economic forces that shaped the Middle East region’s trajectory since the collapse of the Ottoman Empire in 1923 to the present. The course will examine the dynamics that have affected the region as a whole, while nation-specific historical analysis will detail those domestic and geopolitical phenomena that inform local divergence, state rivalries, and the fault lines around which cooperation and conflict fall. Throughout this study, careful attention will be devoted to linking all these processes to the experience, national interests and policy outlook of the UAE. Fundamental to this review will be the legacy of imperialism on the political economy of Gulf states. Within this structure, questions of leadership, political systems, ideology, religion, markets, development models and geopolitics will be emphasised. In doing so, the course will combine the subjects and methods of history, political science, religion and political philosophy that is critical in understanding the politics of the Middle East.

c. PGD-CORE003: UAE History and Culture

This course, which covers the period from 1500 through 1971, is designed to familiarise students with core issues related to the history and culture of the UAE. The course is divided into three sections. The first section covers the period of 1500-1930 (before the discovery of oil in the Arabian Peninsula), including the early history of the Gulf Emirates, along with nineteenth-century treaties with Britain. The second section examines the period of the 1930s until 1968 (the period of the discovery of oil in Eastern Arabia up to the British announcement in 1968 of their departure from the Gulf in 1971). The third and final section focuses on the short but important years of 1968-1971, culminating in the political and economic trends that have shaped the global economy, from economic liberalism to the functionalist perspective of socialism. Feeding into these theoretical debates is a thorough evaluation of important economic trends that have shaped the 20th and 21st centuries such as trade, global investment mechanisms, inequality, globalisation, poverty and development.

d. PGD-CORE004: Preparing for 21st Century Diplomacy

This course will look at the way that diplomacy is changing, and equip students with the tools to become agile, engaged and purposeful diplomats. We will focus on the CLICK of great diplomats: Communications, Leadership, Innovation, Curiosity and Knowledge. The course will be interactive, with simulations and role plays. We will start by looking at what makes great diplomats, historically and contemporary. We will then look to develop those attributes, including learning from leading practitioners in the field. Some of the classes will take place at external venues – e.g. soft power at the Louvre, and innovation at the Dubai Future Museum.

e. PGD-CORE005: International Political Economy

The course explores the intersection between politics and economics at the domestic and global levels. It starts by offering an overview of key macroeconomic concepts and principles that have shaped current economic debates in the region and beyond, such as economic growth, unemployment, taxation and budget deficits. Then, the class explores the fundamental theories and perspectives that have shaped the global economy, from economic liberalism to the structuralist perspective of socialism. Feeding into these theoretical debates is a thorough evaluation of important economic trends that have shaped the 20th and 21st centuries such as trade, global investment mechanisms, inequality, globalisation, poverty and development.

f. PGD-CORE006: International Law for Diplomats

This course will provide students with an introduction to the field of international law, examining the history of ideas, legal doctrines, institutional and administrative structures developed over the last century to organise our global society. The course will examine how to enforce international law (including international courts) as well as how to look at relevant legal issues from political, juridical, economic, cultural and security perspectives. The course will address the fundamental concepts which diplomats have to use the beginning of their careers, enhancing the practical aspects of professional relevance and the new developments which have taken place in the last two decades that have produced key transformations of international law.
g. PGD-CORE007: International Security & Conflict Resolution

This course provides a broad overview of major theoretical approaches, concepts and substantive issues in the field of international security and conflict resolution. The course begins with an analysis of the problem of war in the international system and the nature and primary characteristics of contemporary armed conflicts. This is followed by an examination of the prevention of deadly conflicts, the management of escalation and crises, the termination of violent conflicts, enforcement of cease-fire agreements, and post-conflict transformation and peace-building. It also looks at institutional arrangements for strengthening cooperation in response to traditional and non-traditional security challenges, including alliances, multilateral regimes, security communities and political integration as approaches to consolidating cooperation among states. The general theoretical overview of the topic will be accompanied by regular examples from issues of primary concern to the foreign policy of the UAE. As a country of stability and peace situated within a turbulent and frequently violent region, the course emphasises how UAE diplomats may manage conflicts within the Middle East region and contribute to building cooperation and peace in its immediate neighbourhood, elsewhere in the Middle East, and in global multilateral institutions seeking to build cooperation in security relations worldwide.

h. PGD-CORE008: Research Methods and Capstones for UAE Foreign Policy

This course teaches students to apply research and critical thinking skills to UAE foreign policy. It also trains them in how to communicate that research in a professional, diplomatic context. The course examines the key components of the UAE’s foreign policy and diplomacy. It starts with an overview of the history of the UAE’s foreign policy and diplomacy and gets students to think about some of its guiding principles. It then reviews the strategy of the UAE’s Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation (MoFAIC) and explores in depth the content of each of the pillars of its five-year strategy, including Prosperity, Regional Stability, Active Global Responsibility and People. The course studies aspects of the UAE’s bilateral and multilateral diplomacy and concludes by having students think critically about the long-term challenges facing the UAE’s foreign policy and diplomacy.

i. Language Courses:

Language courses provide comprehensive practice of all areas in the targeted language. The content covers the grammar, vocabulary and skills needed by learners at the A1- CEFR level (Common European Framework of Reference). Students will learn with trainers who are qualified and experienced native speakers in a pleasant and friendly learning environment, utilising interactive immersion techniques for better results and focusing on language of real life situations they can use every day.

The language courses that are offered under the PGD programme are French, Russian, Spanish, German, Chinese and Hindi. Students can select one of these languages to learn during his/her study at EDA.

Registration for language courses will be open during Orientation. Students should keep in mind that there are limited seats in every language class and the class should not exceed 12 students.

Language courses are offered throughout the academic year and will be delivered three times a week, from 9:00am to 11:00am.

Students will be assessed in the language courses through quizzes, assignments and exams to measure their classroom learning.

Students will also receive a completion certificate by the end of the language course that shows the language level that they have reached by the end of the academic year.

j. Diplomatic Writing In Arabic:

Diplomatic writing needs knowledge, proficiency and skills, because it is an art of communicating among states. Putting into written form important information, discussions or agreements is essential to the conduct of foreign relations. Hence, a proper and accepted style of writing is needed. This course will cover different types of diplomatic correspondence, such as (formal letters, informal letters, protocol letters and notes...etc.), in addition to many types of reports. The course will also explain the processes involved in the preparation, drafting and handling of diplomatic correspondence. Instructions are also given for each type of correspondence. A section on ceremonial correspondence (protocol) is included to familiarise those interested in the subject matter.
11.1 Mission and Description:
The MA in Diplomacy and International Relations is an accredited and continuing programme with the following objectives:

- To equip students with greater knowledge of global and regional issues, especially as they relate to the UAE and the MENA region
- To enable students to acquire the ability to think critically about global and regional issues, particularly as they relate to the UAE
- To develop the students’ ability to effectively communicate complex ideas and research results with the highest professional standards
- To develop the students’ practical skills needed to become outstanding diplomats

11.2 MA Programme Learning Outcomes (PLOs):
The PLOs for the MA programme build on the PGD and include:

1. Global and Regional Specialised Knowledge:
   Upon the successful completion of the programme, students will acquire a strong and advanced understanding of current and historical policies, events and practices that are central to the national interests of the UAE and the Middle East region and will be able to critically evaluate and analyse global and regional issues related to the study of international relations and foreign policy.

2. Research and Critical Thinking:
   Upon the successful completion of the programme, students will demonstrate a strong capacity to successfully conduct individual research projects and/or an extensive thesis project. Students will use advanced research tools while investigating complex issues related to diplomacy, foreign policy and international relations by critically examining a range of sources to produce substantive and analytical research papers.

3. Communication and Language:
   Upon the successful completion of the programme, students will exhibit a high standard for the written and oral exposition of their research.

11.3 MA Curriculum:
The MA is a continuing programme that offers students two ways to achieve 12 credits: (1) taking four additional courses and passing a comprehensive exam at the end of the academic year, or (2) taking two additional courses and completing an MA Thesis (6 credits).

   Track One:
   This track consists of four elective courses (12 credits, or 3 credits each). In all of these electives, students will complete a research paper, which requires a substantial original contribution on their part. While the requirements for the individual courses may vary, students should expect to write a paper between 6,000 and 8,000 words for each class. Students who opt for Track One will have to pass a written and oral Comprehensive Exam at the end of the Academic Year to successfully complete the MA. The Comprehensive Exam will consist of a written exam that discusses the content of the MA elective classes that the student took. A committee of three EDA faculty members, two of whom would have to have taught the student in question, grades the written exam. In a second step, students would have to sit for a 15-minute oral exam with a committee comprised of three EDA faculty members.

   Track Two:
   This track consists of two elective courses (6 credits) and the MA thesis (6 credits) and provides uniquely qualified students with the opportunity to write a thesis. Students who have scored a GPA of 3.6 and above in the PGD programme are eligible for Track Two. One EDA faculty member would supervise the thesis and the student would be given two semesters to complete it. The student has to defend the thesis at the end of the academic year orally to a committee of three, which may include at least one member external to EDA.

11.4 MA Courses:
Some of the elective classes that students can take to complete their MA are listed below. Additional electives may be offered each semester, and some others may not run every semester or academic year.

11.5 Pedagogy:
At the MA level, students can expect to find an emphasis on developing their research and writing skills. In practice, this means that they will explore the process of developing research papers in all their classes. Students can expect to have seminar-style classes that emphasise discussion and a critical analysis of assigned texts.

11.6 Programme Time Limit
Full-time students in the MA programme may take a maximum of six credits per semester and may complete the programme requirements in one academic year. Part-time students may register for three credits per semester and may complete the MA programme in two academic years.

11.7 Maximum Load
MA students cannot register for more than six credits per semester. MA students in Track Two cannot take their two elective classes in one semester, as this would entail a load that is higher than six credits, unless it is approved by the AAC.

11.8 Switching Tracks
Students may switch tracks freely during the add-drop week of the first semester. Under exceptional circumstances, students may apply to change tracks during the semester. Students must have a compelling reason for switching tracks. Their application to do so will be due during the add-drop week of the following semester and will be reviewed by the AAC. The programme manager will inform the student in writing of the AAC’s decision. Students who wish to switch tracks outside of the add-drop week should fill out the “MA Switching Tracks” form, which can be obtained at the Student Affairs section.
While conducting research with human subjects, students should keep in mind that no vulnerable subject populations (including children or prisoners) will be involved; the interview subjects will not receive financial payments or other rewards in exchange for their participation; and that research methodologies used do not entail any psychological, social, legal or other type of harm to participant.

Prior to undertaking any such research, all students should print out the Research Ethics Form (available at the Research & Analysis Department or RAD), sign it and return it to the Director of the RAD and to the program manager.

Informed Consent:

Informed consent is the process through which a researcher obtains (and maintains) the permission of a person to participate in a research study. Informed consent is achieved when a subject receives full disclosure of the research plan and its intent, understands all of the information that is disclosed to him/her, voluntarily consents to participate in the study, and understands he/she may withdraw from the study at any time.

When conducting interviews, EDA students must obtain prior informed consent, and, if requested, take appropriate measures to maintain the anonymity of respondents and ensure data confidentiality.

Informed consent can be sought from the interviewees by e-mail (prior to the interview) or by a short oral presentation by the researcher (before the interview starts). The e-mail/presentation should include: (1) the aims of the research; (2) the rights of the subject (including voluntary participation); and (3) how the data obtained will be used and stored, including if the research team can ensure data confidentiality. Permission for possible audio/video recordings of interviews must also be sought in advance of the interview.

The researchers should not commit to making the results of the research available to the interviewee as this will not be possible in all cases.

Before undertaking any research interviews, students should contact their Capstone or MA Thesis supervisor, providing information on what interviews they plan to conduct, and give the supervisor the opportunity to raise any concerns.

1.10 MA Course Descriptions

Some of the courses listed below may not be offered every semester or every academic year. Additional courses may be offered every semester.

a. MA – ELECT001: The Middle East Peace Process (3 credits)

This course examines the Arab-Israeli conflict from its origins in the late 19th century until today – from both an Arab and an Israeli perspective. Specifically, the course focuses on the political, economic, and military dynamics of that conflict.

Students will become familiar with events surrounding first, the struggle for Palestine and second, the wider Arab-Israeli conflict. It will also help participants identify the principal problems and issues associated with this conflict, and, over and above that, understand the implications for the UAE. Furthermore, the course explores the various but relevant conflict management and conflict resolution initiatives that have thus far been undertaken.

Students will also become familiar with the principal problems and issues associated with this conflict, including the birth of the Jewish national movement, Palestine under the British mandate, the struggle for Palestine, the emergence of the Palestinian national movement, the Arab-Israeli wars of 1948, 1956, 1967, 1973, the Israeli invasion of Lebanon in 1982, the role of the superpowers during this period, and the Iranian dimension to the conflict.

The course also covers the various conflict management and conflict resolution initiatives, including the Madrid peace process, that have thus far been undertaken and helps students understand the implications for the UAE and UAE diplomacy.

b. MA – ELECT002: Foreign Policy and Extremism/Terrorism (3 credits)

The main concern of this course is the systematic study of political violence in its different forms and its impact on the foreign policy of nation states worldwide. It is structured along a continuum, ranging from small-scale violence to mass violence, bombings, assassinations, terrorism by sub-national and transnational organisations, state terror and genocide. Violence in the pursuit of political objectives has been a part of human condition since the beginning of recorded history. Given the controversial nature of the subject matter and the complexity of terrorism, this course will attempt to address the root causes of terrorism and explore the avenues of counterterrorism.

The objective of this course is to examine the topic of terrorism and political violence in terms of theories, forms, causal factors, goals and consequences. It also aims at examining the impact of terrorism on foreign policy since the end of the Cold War. Since terror and mass killing have become recurring realities throughout the world, understanding of their root causes and patterns is essential in particular for students, and practitioners in the field of diplomacy and foreign policy. In fact, international terrorism has become the centrepiece of the foreign policy of most if not all nations since the tragic attacks of September 11, 2001, in particular.

c. MA – ELECT003: Trends in European Foreign and Security Policy toward the Middle East (3 credits)

This discussion-rich course explores the foreign policies of key European states as well as the European Union (EU) as a whole, with a particular focus on the Middle East. The classes will be conducted in seminar style, with every other week a debate around a topical issue affecting Europe and its foreign policy, including the integration of minorities, (illegal) migration and the refugee crisis, relations with Russia, the EU and Brexit, the future of transatlantic relations and counter-terrorism measures in Europe.

The course equips future diplomats with essential knowledge of the domestic decision-making processes of these key European players and the EU, helping them to evaluate and assess current and future foreign policy stances. Students will be familiarised with the current policies and initiatives of Europe towards the Middle East and Gulf region, with an emphasis on what is relevant to the UAE.

Students will gain understanding of the current (foreign) policy priorities of Europe.

d. MA – ELECT004: American Foreign Policy in the Middle East (3 credits)

The course is designed to study specific issues and problems regarding the United States’ relations with Middle Eastern countries. The Middle East is a turbulent, yet rich and important region of the world and the US has been actively involved in its political and economic affairs. While US active involvement in the region dates back to the Cold War era, the class will specifically focus on the post-2000 period starting with the George W. Bush presidency.

The course looks at the theoretical foundations behind US foreign policy: what drives America to pursue certain policies and not others? How does it decide what role it should play in the world, and in the Arab region in particular? How has US foreign policy alternated throughout the years? After gaining a solid understanding of foreign policy making, the class then shifts to the Middle East and adopts an issue-based approach to understand US-Arab relations. Issues include terrorism, violence, anti-Americanism, defense, weapons procurement and war. The course will also assess the relations of the United States with key Arab Gulf countries such as Saudi Arabia, the UAE and Qatar.

e. MA – ELECT005A: Select Topics on Contemporary Foreign Policy Trends in Asia and the Gulf (3 credits)

With ‘Asiaisation’ – shifting wealth and power from the West to Asia – as the focus, this course is designed to understand the current affairs and interlinkages in Gulf-Asia’s socio-economic, foreign policy and security ties. While the principal Asian powers – China, India, Japan and South Korea – form the core, other significant actors from West, Central, South, and Southeast Asia and issues revolving

Its primary goal is to develop the analytical skills, conceptual tools, and historical foundations necessary for understanding the continent. The course covers major themes such as colonialism and post-colonial Africa, ethnicity, nationalism, social class, ideology and religion, legitimacy, state and civil society, and external factors in the making of African politics. Additionally, the course is country-specific as it examines the governments of South Africa, Ethiopia, Nigeria and Central Africa as representatives of continental African political systems.

h. MA – ELECT005D: Select Topics on Stabilisation in Conflict-Affected Countries (3 credits)

This course introduces students to the current thinking and practice related to contemporary stabilisation activities in conflict-affected areas. In recent decades, stabilisation has emerged as a central guiding rationale behind international interventions and as a new platform for rethinking engagement in fragile or failed-states. Predicated on the idea that development and security are mutually reinforcing, stabilisation efforts have striven to promote legitimate political authority in conflict-affected countries by using a range of military, diplomatic, humanitarian and developmental tools with the aim to reduce violence, give people basic livelihoods, and prepare for longer-term recovery. The course begins with an analysis of the problem of state failure and the changing characteristics of contemporary armed conflicts. This is followed by an examination of contemporary approaches to stabilisation, the role of military, diplomatic, development and humanitarian resources and actions in stabilisation activities, and the challenges of interagency coordination in the context of stabilisation. The general theoretical and conceptual overview of the topic is accompanied by regular examples and case-studies of primary concern for the UAE, including an evaluation of recent and ongoing stabilisation missions in countries such as Afghanistan, Iraq and Mali, as well as novel dimensions of stabilisation in the MENA region.

i. MA – ELECT005E: Select Topics on The Politics of the Gulf and the Levant (3 credits)

Using the June 1967 Arab-Israeli war as a point of departure, this course dissects the major events and crises that contributed in shaping today's regional politics. Within this context, we will discuss such landmark issues as the defeat of Arab radicalism and the emergence of the Arab state system, the Ramadan War of 1973, the Camp David Accords and the peace treaty between Egypt and Israel, the treaty's regional consequences: the civil war in Lebanon, the Syrian intervention therein, and the Syrian-Israeli showdown. We will also discuss the downfall of the Shah of Iran and the rise of the Islamic Republic, the Iran-Iraq war and its regional consequences, including (but not limited to) the Syrian-Iranian alliance.

j. MA – ELECT005F: Select Topics on Comparative Politics (3 credits)

Comparative Politics is the study of domestic politics around the world, in different contexts and places. The field examines various political, social and economic variables to make sense of countries’ systems of government, regimes, political parties, markets and other institutions. As such, this course serves as a solid and thorough background to the concepts, ideas, and theories used in global affairs while shedding light over how these are applied in different regional settings. Once acquired, these various tools can then be applied to several countries in order to compare and contrast between them and understand their challenges and issues. This class ultimately seeks to examine the process of government and regime formations, the structures of political and economic institutions and markets, and finally, the particularities of certain regions and countries.

l. MA – THESIS - MA Thesis (6 credits)

The MA thesis is a two-semester, six-credit course that requires the students to complete a written thesis on a topic related to UAE diplomacy, International relations and/or foreign policy under the supervision of one EDA faculty member. The thesis is an in-depth research project written in English where students identify a solid research question and undertake to answer that question through rigorous academic research. Students who have scored a GPA of 3.6 and above during the PGD programme are eligible to opt for the MA Thesis and will have to indicate their preferences during Orientation.

During the Fall semester, students will be required to attend various thesis workshops to help them develop their research proposal, narrow down the research question and identify a suitable supervisor and committee. The student can begin writing the thesis, which will be due at the end of the Spring semester. Students are expected to defend their thesis in front of a committee of three, with the possibility of one member being external to EDA. The committee will also be responsible for grading the thesis based on a rubric.
What is distance learning?
Distance learning is one of the well-known modes of study in the 21st century, where the student is being taught remotely, without an in-person interaction with their faculty and where classmates and students can learn at their own pace.

What is it like to be a distance learning student?
It is required from the distance learning students to be proactive, because the classes are not conducted physically and require high commitment from the students and a sense of duty, as they have to:

• Interact with classmates and faculty in virtual classes, chat rooms and other messaging services
• Achieve group work in discussion forums, chat rooms and web broadcasting technology
• View and read the courses reading materials, which are accessible via EDA Learning Management System (LMS)
• Complete the course assignments and submit them on time via EDA LMS
